

Mountains to Sound Greenway National Heritage Area

The Mountains to Sound Greenway encompasses over 1.5 million acres of connected natural lands and vibrant urban areas surrounding I-90 between Puget Sound and Central Washington. The Greenway conserves a shared heritage of working farms and forests, parks, sustainable communities and abundant outdoor educational and recreational opportunities. This map illustrates the impressive history of public land conservation in the Mountains to Sound Greenway. The checkerboard pattern in the Cascades reveals decades of concerted effort to return 19th century

Land Conservation

-  Mountains to Sound Greenway Boundary
-  Regional Trails
-  County Boundaries
-  Cities & Urban Growth Areas
-  Lands Conserved Since 1990
-  Public Lands As of 1990
-  Conserved Private Farms & Forests
-  Rural Private Lands

The information included on this map has been compiled from various sources and is subject to change without notice. While not guaranteed, every attempt has been made to present the information accurately and completely. June 2022